

Day 1

Today started off with cleaning the deck (after sleeping on the boat for the first time) of our temporary home by coiling up some ropes and learnt to do some knots. We visited Master Yachts learning all about the crewing, yacht safety , finance , design and building of yachts before heading off to delicious lunch on the balcony of Captain Phil's house where we got a bit of a Spanish lesson, learning the basics and how to count.

We then explored the beautiful, historical city of Palma de Mallorca visiting the amazing building Cathedral de Mallorca (Museum and catholic church) and got to shop for some small gifts. We also saw the Old city walls (Murallas De Palma) which was used as the defence wall for wars.

We then had the honour of having dinner with Mrs Maria who is the one who bought Lawhill Maritime Centre Homero (our yacht) , who brought us gifts that we can use to store and treasure memories of the amazing times in Spain.

Stay tuned to keep updated of our amazing trip:)
